

“The Flood”

(Julience)

Land filled with sin, consumed by slow decay wickedness of man, who've been slowly led astray Violent, corrupted
all flesh shall be scattered every man shall face his reckoning before long

[Chorus]

Killing yourself to live
living only for the day
soon enough you will all pay

One man, one message that no one will heed found grace in thy sight, not blinded by greed Gopher wood, pitch within make haste the tide is creeping in save the tears, face your fears soon enough you will be consumed Like a black hole in your room can't you feel this falling gloom?
there's a lingering sense of doom

Oh my, oh will we ever see the day again?
the sky grows darker every minute passing by The rain won't stop, the sea will swallow us one by one my Lord how could we have been so blind

He made a world for us (sun and moon)
He'll take what's left of us (and start anew)
He brought us into this world (wicked game)
He'll take us out of it (just the same)
